  - Oracy will be embedded in everything across the curriculum (maths etc.)

  - Governors have agreed wording of letter. Invitation for direct family contributions (donations) to the school. Will be sent out in February and introduced in school newsletter.
    - Voluntary donations (£8–10 per month per family)
    - Other schools locally do this. It is for the “enrichment of our children’s education” “nice to have” – not for wages etc.

    - Reception currently have a separate donation scheme as they use a lot of resources.

Action: Helen to speak to Reception teachers about either having a cash donation box or using the voluntary donations instead.

    - More should now be available for big events (like fairs) and also for £1 donations (e.g., Red Nose Day); however, cash is preferred as SumUp take a few cents for every £1.
    - Paypal point of service app has been set-up which can use 5G

- ParentPay - Class trips – there is a way to choose an amount over or under the requested price discrepancy in price by selecting “choose an amount”. Some parents have mastered this; some haven’t. It’s unclear if there a difference between the phone / laptop platforms.

Action: Jennie to show screen-shots of the booking process in an upcoming newsletter.

    - School and parents expressed gratitude for all the work the new team have put in.
- Staff appreciation – Jessica Morris (co-chair)
  - Ideas for showing appreciation to staff:
    - Class WhatsApp donation collections etc for teachers quite common Christmas and end of year.
    - WhatsApp groups to encourage considering non-teaching staff
    - Are there days in the year (Teacher appreciation days etc.) that a coordinated response could be organised / communicated?
    - Encourage parents/carers to share positive stories to encourage positive feedback for staff
      - Helen noted that teachers really appreciate positive stories shared with them by parents/carers which can be done through the class email – it really helps morale.
      - There has been a positive impact for staff who have used cards for peer-peer encouraging feedback, following input from David Burgess-Belay Coaching.
